If I were a Fairy Penguin

If I were a Fairy Penguin, I would choose to live in the wild of southern coast of Awtralia. I prefer the wild captivity because I enjoy freedom. I think my life would be a wonderful "dance". I would spend my days diving into the ocean to hunt for food and return home at dusk.

To hide from predators, I would use my blue-black fur which blends in with the deep blue sea when they are looking from above. The thing that makes us special is that we are the smallest penguins in the world, with indigo feathers on our backs.

I felt wonderful pleasure because I am a small penguin, and I don't wish to be a big animal because my small size lets me be agile in the water and move eazily among rocks.

Being the smallest does not mean being weak; it means we are unique.

Tony Chen
WTE 4A

The Northern Unicorn

One fine day in North Korea, soldiers found a Unicorn in a deep dark cave and reported it to their leader. "sir! We found a horse with a horn on its head - a unicorn!" said one of the soldiers. "This could be a once-in-a-life time experience! Soldiers, call in full force to capture it! Generals stay here. We need a name, a worthy and royal name!" shouted the leader. The soldiers went to do what their leader commanded. After a few weeks, the soldiers went to send a scout to report the news while the leader and his high-ranking general thought about the name. "Sir! We successfully captured the unicorn. We also sent an analysis specialist, and we found out that the unicorn was ridden and owned by the founder of Goguryeo kingdom back in ancient times!" said the scout. "The unicorn shall be call Kirin." said the leader. At last, the leader made the announcement to the whole country, and every one in the country cheered.

Carson Chiu
WTE-6A

Ethan Chan W1Z4B

E-Smart Learning Centre

I was walking in the street. I saw lightning. I did not see a shopping center. I thought, "Oh! I'll take a bus home now!" But I saw the bus was full! Oh my god! How about the train? The train was too crowded and I couldn't get in!

And I ran! But there were many trees. I kept running but there was a swimming pool. I wanted to go home but I didn't bring the car key. I couldn't open the car.

Unluckily, the thunder hit me. My body became soup. Oh my!

I am outside alone. Then I see lighting. I was afraid because I didn't want to be the tallest thing around. I stayed next to a tree. Then I sprinted home.

Later, the big, tall building I went inside was hit by very powerful lightning and it started a fire in the building, so I must go outside again. There was still more lightning outside and the lightning hit me.

Blimey! It was incredibly painful. My body felt likes warm, mushy tomato soup and my head felt like I was being stung by wasps!

Hazel Poon
WTE4B

